Mobile User Status Patents Available on the Ocean Tomo Bid-Ask™ Market

Ocean Tomo Bid-Ask™ Market auction of patents related to data gathering and measurement of mobile user impairment.

CHICAGO, IL (January 29, 2019) Ocean Tomo Transactions, LLC will auction a portfolio of two US patents related to Mobile User Status.

The patents in lot 89 relate to methods and systems, which are directed to gathering ambient data from sensors coupled to a measuring device for determining the probability an individual is impaired, detect medical and/or cognitive impairment without the need for specialized devices, examination by specialists, consent of the person being evaluated, and compliance with recommendations to be examined. The methods and systems may be applied to estimating the level of impairment of a person due to alcohol, drugs, exposure to toxic chemicals, changes to mental status, insufficient sleep, medical problems, changes to blood sugar levels, divided attention, vision changes, hearing changes, use of a mobile device while walking or operating a vehicle, and other factors.

The patents in this auction would be of interest to mobile device companies, automotive OEMs and aftermarket companies, breathalyzer companies, over the road trucking companies and medical device companies.

To request bidder credentials or for further information on this auction or other auctions on the Ocean Tomo Bid-Ask™ Market, contact Layna Guo at LaynaGuo@OTI.com or 1-312-327-8179.
